Dear Matthew and Jason:

The 2001 Inc Web Awards are out at last – and your company is among the winners. Congratulations!

That's no small achievement. Our in-house and guest judges selected fewer than 20 Web champions from an initial field of 800 entries. Nice work!

I've enclosed the November 2001 issue, which includes a special Web Awards section. For a quick list of where your company placed, see the list on page 132. But we hope you'll read and enjoy the rest of our special Web Awards coverage as well.

We're designing a new special awards logo you can display on your Web site; we'll e-mail it to you as soon as our artist finishes it.

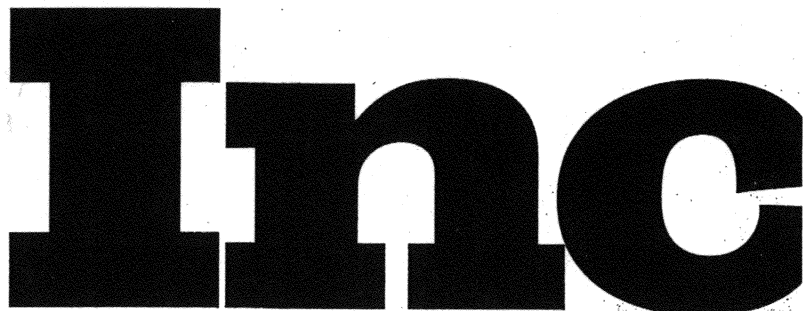

If you've got any suggestions for improving future contests, please let me know. Watch our Web site (www.inc.com) after Jan. 1, 2002, for details about next year's awards.

Meanwhile, on behalf of the entire Inc editorial team, congratulations again on this year's win.

Regards,
